Christianity was introduced to Ethiopia as early as the 4th century CE during the reign of King Ezana of Axum, making it one of the earliest nations to officially adopt Christianity. The early Christian community in Ethiopia was heavily influenced by Coptic Christianity, which brought with it a distinctive scriptural canon. Unlike the Western Christian traditions, the Ethiopian Church’s biblical canon evolved uniquely, incorporating texts that remain outside the recognized canons in Western and even some Eastern Orthodox churches.

Development of the 88-Book Canon

The Ethiopian biblical canon was formalized over centuries, with the current 88-book collection emerging from a complex interplay of theological, cultural, and linguistic factors. The canon includes: - The standard books found in the Protestant Bible - Additional texts, including the broader Old Testament apocrypha and deuterocanonical books - Several unique writings, such as Enoch and Jubilees, which are considered scriptural within this tradition The process of canonization was likely influenced by local theological debates, the translation of texts into Ge’ez (the liturgical language), and the preservation of ancient manuscripts.
