The Context Leading Up to Gettysburg

The Civil War Background

The American Civil War (1861–1865) was primarily ignited by issues surrounding slavery, states’ rights, and regional tensions between the North (Union) and the South (Confederacy). By 1863, the conflict had already claimed hundreds of thousands of lives and devastated large parts of the country.

Why Gettysburg?

Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, was a strategic crossroads for both armies. The town's location made it a logical target for the Confederate invasion of the North, aiming to threaten Northern cities and sway public opinion in favor of peace negotiations.

The Battle Unfolds

Day 1: The Initial Clash

On July 1, 1863, Confederate forces under General Robert E. Lee engaged Union troops led by General John F. Reynolds. The battle began unexpectedly, and the Confederates pushed the Union forces through Gettysburg, forcing them to establish defensive positions on high ground south of the town, notably Cemetery Hill and Cemetery Ridge.

Day 2: The Fight for the High Ground

July 2 saw intense fighting as Confederate attacks aimed to dislodge Union forces from their positions. Notably, the fighting around Little Round Top, Devil’s Den, and the Wheatfield was fierce. Union soldiers, under commanders like General Joshua Chamberlain, mounted stubborn defenses that held the line.

Day 3: Pickett’s Charge and the Turning Point

The climax was on July 3, with the infamous Pickett’s Charge. Approximately 12,500 Confederate soldiers led by General George Pickett marched across open fields to assault the Union center on Cemetery Ridge. The attack was repelled with heavy Confederate casualties, marking a decisive Union victory.
