The late 19th century was a period of rapid growth and transformation for Chicago. The city was burgeoning as an industrial and cultural hub, eager to showcase its progress on the world stage. The 1893 World's Columbian Exposition, also known as the Chicago World's Fair, was a grand event designed to celebrate the 400th anniversary of Christopher Columbus’s arrival in the New World. It attracted millions of visitors from around the globe and featured innovative architecture, technological marvels, and cultural exhibits. Simultaneously, beneath the veneer of progress and enlightenment, Chicago was becoming a hotbed of crime. It was during this era that H.H. Holmes, a charismatic and cunning conman, and serial killer, established his infamous "Murder Castle," a sinister building designed explicitly for his murderous pursuits.

Structure of the Book

Larson's narrative is divided into two intertwined threads: - The story of the exposition, focusing on its planning and construction, highlighting figures like architect Daniel Burnham and engineer Frederick Pabst. - The story of H.H. Holmes, exploring his life, crimes, and the mechanisms he used to lure and kill his victims. Larson employs meticulous research, blending factual accounts with vivid storytelling, creating a compelling tapestry that captures the grandeur of the fair and the horror of Holmes's deeds.

Adjusting screen brightness to match ambient lighting further enhances comfort and protects eye health during long reading sessions.
